Rice Writes to Cooper

DENVER, July 24.—Secretary of State James Rice sent the following communication to Governor Cooper today which fully explains itself

DENVER, Colo., July 24, 1889.

To His Excellency, Job A. Cooper, Governor of Colorado:

SIR:—In view of the recent publications and utterances affecting the office of the secretary of state of the state of Colorado I respectfully call your attention to the provision of the constitution of the state of Colorado, which authorizes the governor to require information in writing from the officers of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and which requires that such information shall be given upon oath whenever so demanded. I have the honor to inform you that as secretary of state of the state of Colorado I shall be glad at any time to furnish to you, under the constitutional provision referred to, a full statement in writing upon any subject relating to the duties of my office, together with such information relating to the property of the state in my custody as you may require. I have the honor to be, very respectfully, (Signed) JAMES RICE, Secretary of State.

Suicide Has.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 24.—A child sacrificed to a negro Mormon who has been working among the negroes of Liberty county has just been discovered in a remote part of that county. The child was black and its throat was cut and its ears missing. The negroes are awed by a religious frenzy and will not talk of the murder, but it is believed that the fanatics did the killing. They are disciples of a false Christ who has preached frequently of human sacrifices. The coroner is investigating the girls' lamentable state of religious frenzy.

Edward Jones, who is acting as leader of the congregation since Orth, the false Christ, was sent to the asylum ten days ago, appeared before the audience almost perfectly sane when he preaches.

The Dover Coal Oil.

DENVER, July 24.—Arthur Perkins, a lad of 11 years, attempted to kindle a fire in the kitchen stove with the aid of coal oil. An explosion followed and the boy was enveloped in a sheet of flame and horribly burned before the fire was extinguished. He cannot recover. Henry Perkins, the father of the lad, is a laborer employed in the [illegible] house of Williams & Wood, on Blake street, and was unaware of the accident until coming home to dinner half an hour later. The mother of the children has been dead some years and the father, son and daughter have been keeping house together the best they could in a little double frame house on Platte street, to which they had removed but last Saturday.

DENVER, July 24.—A man named P. J. Flynn, who at various times has been connected with several newspapers of this city, was arrested last night upon the charge of passing worthless checks. The well known agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad in this city bears the same name and has been greatly annoyed by the acts of the man under arrest and whom he never saw and did not know. The high character of the rail. man has greatly aided the rascal in his dishonest transactions which now amount to several hundred dollars.

[illegible] Act.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Solicitor Hepburn, to whom the question was offered, is of the opinion that there is nothing in the Chinese exclusion act to prohibit the landing in the United states of Chinese who enlisted as servants on the United States naval vessels recently at Samoa and whose service will terminate upon the arrival of the vessels at San Francisco. The solicitor considers that these men form a working outfit of the vessels and they are exempted from the operations of the exclusion act.

Judiciary Committee To

BISMARCK, Dak., July 24.—The judiciary committee has at last reported to the convention. The committee recommends a supreme court of three judges, six judicial districts with as many judges and that the present system of justices of the peace be retained. The terms of the judges of the supreme court is to be six years. The Scandinavian temperance society of North Dakota has petitioned the convention, on behalf of the Scandinavian inhabitants, to prohibit the [illegible] liquor in the state.

[illegible] Missing.

DETROIT, July 24.—The Journal prints a dispatch from Jackson regarding Hogan, the missing aeronaut. Harvey Flower, of Jackson, who has known Hogan from boyhood, states that last Thursday he saw Hogan in Jackson and talked with him. Hogan requested him to keep quiet for a time. The foregoing is considered reliable. Two other men claim to have positive knowledge that Hogan is in hiding till he recovers from his accident.

[illegible] for Bell

CHICAGO, July 24.—A final decision was rendered to day by Judge Blodgett in the federal court in a long pending litigation between the Bell and Cushman telephone companies, the former having sued the latter for infringement of a patent. The decree in both suits is [illegible] of one dollar and costs against it and it is ordered to turn over all its telephones to the Bell company.

The Idaho Convention

BOISE CITY, Idaho, July 24.—The time of the convention was mostly occupied in considering propositions in relation to taxation. It was decided that compulsory education may be enforced to a certain limit. The legislature is authorized to regulate the charges of railroad and express companies. The section prohibiting railroads from pooling was stricken out. The proposition against free passes to state officers was voted down.

Contract Workmen Returned.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Four Italians who arrived here last week from Germany under contract to work for a Milwaukee firm were to be sent back.

Killed Himself

LAKE MOHANAC, N. Y., July 24.—[illegible] years ago [illegible] killed himself yesterday after firing three shots at his wife. Annie, aged 18. The young woman will die.

Workmen Bound for Paris

NEW YORK, July 24.—A party of forty two representative workingmen sailed for a trip throughout the big manufacturing centers of England, Scotland, France, Germany, Belgium and the Paris exposition sailed today.

Gould Does Not Want the Alton

NEW YORK, July 24.—Jay Gould in an interview with regard to the rumor that he was negotiating for the purchase of the Chicago and Alton said: "I have all the railroads I need at present, and I have made no offer for the Alton."

Will be Paid Their Full

PARIS, July 24.—Henry Rochefort announces that the Boulangist committee will pay the officials dismissed from the government service because of their adherence to Boulanger the full salaries they now receive from the government.

Cut Nail Trust.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 24.—At a meeting of the Western Cut Nail association preliminary steps looking to the combination of all cut nail mills, by which their product will be handled by a single central organization, were taken.

Boulanger

PARIS, July 24.—Dupont, a Boulangist member of the chamber of deputies, last night attempted to make a speech at Port L'Abbe Finistere, but was attacked by a mob and stoned. A number of Dupont's teeth were broken and his face cut. He was refused permission to proceed.

[illegible] of a Senator C[illegible]

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—A great sensation has been caused in the highest circles by the suicide of Count Sparre, a member of a prominent Swiss family, after he had killed his mistress. Count Sparre had been carrying on a liaison with Eletica Madigan, a circus performer of the island of Gansinge, and becoming involved in a quarrel with his mistress he drew a pistol and shot her and then killed himself. Count Sparre was married and he and his wife moved in the most aristocratic circles of Copenhagen.

[illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt said to-day that charges have been brought against both the pension office and the sixth auditor's office that men have been discharged because they were democrats. He was not prepared to say this was a violation of the law but individually he was firmly of the opinion that it was in violation of the spirit of the law. He thought that no one unless he happened to be an active partisan should be dismissed from the public service. He said that the commission was going to look the matter up, not only as relating to the present but to the past.

The C[illegible] May Pay [illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The attorney general has given the secretary of the treasury an opinion to the effect that there is no legal objection to the transit through the United States of the Chinamen recently arrived at New Orleans from Cuba, en route for China via San Francisco. The Chinese minister has asked that these men be permitted to pass the United States on their way home, and it is probable, in view of the attorney general's opinion, that his request will be granted. This opinion is in accord with a decision given by Solicitor Hepburn on the same question some weeks ago, which was, however, not accepted by the treasury department.

The W[illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Dr. Allen, the secretary of the Corean embassy, called at the state department this morning and talked with Acting Secretary Wharton about the case of Mrs Hattie H. Heron, the missionary reported to be under sentence of death in Corea for preaching the doctrines of Christianity. Dr. Allen stated to Wharton his entire disbelief in the truth of the story. Even if the lady had been charged with the offense she would be under the jurisdiction of consular courts, and the emperor, except by the exercise of arbitrary power, could not have ordered her execution.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The report that Mrs Heron, a Presbyterian missionary in Corea, has been condemned to death for teaching Christianity, is not credited by the officials of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions.

The Royal G[illegible]

LONDON, July 24.—Vincy Labouchere laid on the table in the house of commons the motion to substitute for the report of the royal grants committee an address to the queen stating that the sums given the royal family are already amply sufficient and that if further supplies are needed they ought to be provided through retrenchment in expenses of the royal household and not by fresh demands upon the taxpayers, there has been a rupture among the liberals and Gladstones and Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Parnell have decided to support the government. John Morley will move an amendment against increasing the allowances of the royal family unless when the next request is made it be accompanied by a pledge that it will be the final one. Gladstone's pressure upon Labouchere to withdraw the motion has been futile, and Labouchere will listen to no compromise. The Parnellite members of the house of commons are whipping in for the government, greatly to the disgust of the radicals. The opposition being thus at sixes and sevens, a large government majority on the report of the royal grants committee is assured.

[illegible]

NEW YORK, July 24.—The stock market showed no signs of getting out of the rut of dullness into which it has fallen. The transactions to day were on the same limited scale as usual of late, while the tone of the market which was strong at first became weak later in the day and the early gains were lost. The final changes are somewhat irregular but generally are in the direction of lower figures and for fractional amounts only.

A CELEBRATED CLAIM.

An Important Matter Awaiting Action by Harrison.

Famous Mexican Claim Case Before the President.

How Burke Obtained Funds for His Extradition Case.

Suspicion that the Clan Na Gael Furnished the Money.

Awaiting Harrison's Action

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Among the papers President Harrison has before him and upon which he may take action while at Deer Park is a statement from Secretary Blaine respecting the celebrated Weil Lashra claims upon which the government of Mexico has paid several hundred thousand dollars under the judgment of the commission before whom the claims were tried.

After Mexico had paid a portion of the sum awarded, further payment was stopped in the time of Mr Cleveland's administration and the matter was taken up by congress upon the plea that the testimony before the claims commission was perjured and unreliable and the claims themselves unjust and unfounded. A long investigation by the senate committee on foreign relations followed, resulting in a report just before the Fiftieth congress adjourned, sustaining the plea and recommending the passage of a bill to secure a retrial. The facts in the case have been submitted to President Harrison by Secretary Blaine, who awaits instructions as to the disposition of the money paid by the government of Mexico. The claimants have made a demand for it under the judgment awarded by the commission. The amount involved is nearly $700,000.

Burke's Preliminary Hearing.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Ever since Martin Burke was arrested in Winnipeg and began his fight against extradition, the authorities have been puzzling themselves with the question as to where he got the money necessary to conduct his case in the manner it was. It is stated that to day it was learned by States Attorney Longenecker that a man known to be a close friend of a prominent Clan na Gael leader in Chicago, appeared in Winnipeg on Saturday. On Monday Burke's lawyers began to move for a writ of habeas corpus, which had been repeatedly delayed. A large sum of money was required for the move and there was no intimation before that it would be forthcoming. It is inferred by the states attorney and others in authority here that there must be some connection between the arrival of the Chicagoan and the beginning of the delayed proceedings. It is understood that detectives are looking into the matter but Mr. Longenecker will not give the name of the suspected person, as he says the man might have been in Winnipeg on legitimate business.

[illegible]

LONDON, July 24.—At to-day's session of the Parnell Commission, Mallon, an ex official of the land league was examined. He denied all knowledge of any documents relating the league except those in the hands of the Parnell solicitors. Mallon also said that Parnell was in error when he stated that he (Mallon) upon leaving the country ordered the documents in his possession destroyed. A number of the documents belonging to the land league were removed from the house in Bloomsbury street, Dublin, where Sexton lived in '88. His (Mrs Sexton's) wife was imprisoned to draw league checks. Mallon could not say why she was thus imprisoned, except that the Irish league of which she was the treasurer was assisting in carrying on the work of the league.

Millar, of the National bank, testified that no Parnellite ever suggested to him that the checks and bank book of the league should be destroyed. Terrill, cashier of the bank, stated that he had received an order to destroy the waste books last February. He did not examine the books to see whether they contained documents of any importance to the commission.

A Much Wanted Man Esc[illegible]

NEW YORK, July 24.—The following dispatch reached police headquarters to night.

LIMA, July 24.

[illegible] Inspector Byrnes, New York:

The prisoner escaped at Iquique Friday. Removal is impossible. Instruct the United States minister at Lima.

[Signed] BEILY.

The prisoner is William A. Bushnell, alias Gerald F. Hanson, the absconding bookkeeper of Butler, Stillman & Hubbard, who was arrested at Santiago, Chili last December, by Detective Reilly, of this city, and who was on his way back here in Reilly's custody. Ten years ago he hypothecated securities valued at $35,000 belonging to the above named law firm and fled. Then, under the name of Hanson, he was appointed agent of the West Coast Telephone company in Santiago, where he moved in the best society, and embezzled $18,000, but was so popular there that no jury would convict him. It was then found that Bushnell and Hanson were the same person, and Inspector Byrnes had him arrested on the first charge. It was with great difficulty that he was extradited.

The Southern Pacific's Den[illegible]

CHICAGO, July 24.—The proposition of the Southern Pacific railroad to guarantee to the Canadian Pacific six per cent of the Pacific coast traffic and abolish its differentials was considered to day by the executive committee of the Trans Continental association. The only agreement that could be reached was to recommend a reduction of the differentials and a report to that effect was submitted to the general meeting, but the Southern Pacific refused to accept it. That road insisted that its proposition must be accepted or it would go out of the association. To make matters worse the Denver and Rio Grande Western road demanded a differential rate on the Trans Continental traffic on the ground that it is a narrow gauge road. This demand was referred to a special committee. No conclusion in regard to the [illegible] under consideration was reached and the [illegible] adjourned until to-morrow.

The passenger department adopted a resolution making a rate of one fare for the round trip for veterans attending the G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee.

Three Unknown Bodies Found

ST. STEPHENS, July 24.—The report is now fully authenticated that the bodies of three murdered and two white men were found floating in Lake Lovern. Whitney station, Lake County, Wisconsin, which they came from or who they were there is unknown to any one. The most plausible story is that they were stock men passing through with a load of live stock and perhaps money on the train committed the deed and threw the bodies off in order to escape suspicion. The bodies were found floating between the tracks of the Pennsylvania & Ohio and Lake Shore railways.

Long Lost Cargo Recovered

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—The wreck of the English bark Medway, which foundered in 1853 while bound from London to Philadelphia with a cargo of tin feed and spelter worth over $150,000, has been located by the Atlantic and Gulf Wrecking company, of Cape Henlopen. The schooner Magee to day landed at the Almond street wharf a consignment of various metals from the Medway's cargo, which had been brought to the surface by divers and although corroded by the action of salt water the entire consignment was sold at the highest market rates. The Medway's cargo was consigned to Pennock & Burton, the old time Philadelphia ship brokers, who are long since dead and have passed out of the public view.

The afternoon session was devoted to the consideration of judiciary bills, organizing districts and the apportionment of judges.

In the Alley Behind Every Lot in Parrish's Addition

There is a 3-inch Water Pipe, connected at Chestnut street with a 16-inch main; the Largest in the City's System. THE MAIN CITY DITCH, taking pure, clear water from the Fountain, runs just back of PARRISH'S ADDITION, and within a stone's throw of it.

The late gathering of New Jersey prohibitionists passed a resolution declaring that they were "against every form of license and compromise." This resolution illustrates the fact that the prohibitionists propose to go forward with the same old mill stone around their necks and to stubbornly bump their heads against the same old stone front.

A conference of prominent democrats will be held in Hartford, Conn., to-day, to discuss plans for gaining control of the legislature in order that a democrat may be elected to the United States senate to succeed Senator Platt. This discussing plan is a harmless amusement and will not interfere with the legislature performing its duty in the usual way by electing a republican to represent Connecticut in the senate.

The compromise made between the two factions of the republican party in Virginia seems to be a fair one. It is based on what should never have been questioned, the majority shall rule in county conventions and shall instruct the delegates to the state convention. Mahone has heretofore been able in the counties which were against him to manipulate the returns so that the county central committee could either send the delegates or get up a contesting delegation. When republicans feel that they have been fairly treated and are then beaten they submit. But giving state instructions through county committees is sure to divide the party. Mahone is gone, but Mahoneism remains.

The state papers which are charging Governor Cooper with inaction in the matter of the investigation of the alleged frauds against the state have no reasonable grounds for such charges. Governor Cooper is too much of a business man to proceed hastily in a matter of such great importance. He is too sincere in his desire to serve the best interests of the people to rush recklessly forward without satisfying himself fully as to his duties in the matter and the proper manner in which to perform them. The governor is right in going carefully. There is nothing to gain by hasty, reckless action. When he is satisfied as to his duty and is sure that he is right, it will be time enough to go ahead. Governor Cooper's high regard for the sacredness of the trust he holds and his duty to the people will urge him to be as prompt in his action as he should be.

The Craftsman, the printers' organ, had in its last issue one of the best editorials we have yet seen on the printers' home. It puts very clearly what this home should be to the I. T. U., "a sanitarium where the enfeebled may recruit their exhausted strength in order to renew their struggle for existence." It should not be a place in which printers may die easy so much as a place where they may be enabled to live. Few printers in the east would care to come this distance if there was no chance of recovery. But for the lack of a home like this, many printers are not able to do anything to save their lives in the early stages of lung trouble. They either work or stay too long in a hostile climate. The existence of this home will enable such printers to immediately go away for relief and probably in nineteen cases out of twenty it will be obtained. The Craftsman is doing a good service to printers in agitating this subject as it does in the article we print elsewhere.

The Printers' Home.

The Craftsman.

For three years or more, since the magnanimity of Messrs. Childs and Drexel placed in the hands of the I. T. U. a generous sum of money—there has been talk of establishing a Printers' Home, a place where worn out compositors could spend the remainder of their days in peace, undisturbed by takes and galleys, where matter would not be slugged off nor any struggle against the decline of life would be as easy and gradual and free from jar as the dream of the inventor who is finally to solve the question of aerial navigation, where the man of sticks and chases and presses above, and "3" should be written after his life's work in letters of gold.

The Home has been written up and talked of, and various cities have put in claims for its location, many inducements being offered by rival claimants. At the last session, as every one knows by this time, the state of Colorado donated to the I. T. U. a tract of land at Colorado Springs, containing eighty acres, and valued at this time at about $30,000 with unlimited possibilities in the way of an hundred value in the future. That the place was well chosen and that the representatives acted wisely in accepting the donation, no one who has visited Colorado Springs can for a moment doubt. Having the fact that it is not a mere barren spot, it might be compared to the lines of him who longed for—

"O! for some valley in the west,
Where free from toil and pain
The weary pilgrim may rest."

Now that we have obtained this Canadian retreat, in the language of Bulwer Lytton, "What will we do with it?"

Many have expressed their approval of the act of our delegates, many anticipated the establishment of such an institution years ago, but so far none have given their ideas what such an establishment should be, how it should be conducted, the qualifications for entrance, etc. None have taken the trouble to make an estimate of the probable cost of the building necessary, the possible income, etc., and many other details which should be necessarily to determine before we begin to "break ground" for the new home. Shall it be in the nature of an asylum or a sanitarium? Shall worn-out and aged printers be banished there for life, with occasional trips to town; or shall we have a sanitarium where the enfeebled may recruit their exhausted strength in order to renew their struggle for existence?

The latter we believe the most feasible and perhaps will render the most good to the greatest number. In all our experience we do not remember to have met a printer who would admit that he was past service or that there was any danger of his dying. They are a cheerful lot in the main, and until the dread messenger has them in his grasp they are hopeful and confident. Why, then undertake to establish an eleemosynary institution where the only thing the poor cumbers can look forward to is death? Let it be a cheerful sanitarium, where any sick or exhausted printer can tarry for a few weeks or months, drinking in the life-giving ozone of the hills imbibing oxygen from every mountain breeze absorbing strength and vitality from the mineral springs which abound on all sides. There is life and not death beneath the blue firmament of Colorado. No printer wants to die after a sight of the towering mountains and a bracing lung bath which comes down from the peaks of snow. In fact consumptive printers who have gone to Colorado absolutely refuse to die.

In a measure such an institution might be made partially self supporting. A craft paper might be established and the compositors given a little exercise at the case as they feel like it. Printers with more money than health would be glad to pay a small sum weekly for a quiet place in which to recuperate, and even healthy printers and pressmen would be pleased to meet their comrades for a few weeks in the mountains and ramble up the cañons of the Cheyenne or climb the snowy heights of Pike's Peak. In fact, there would, under the circumstances, be a perpetual session of the I. T. U., and no end of good times had by the assembled disciples of Faust from every section of our country.

While the I. T. U. has two years in which to perfect plans and begin to build, it is none too soon to begin an agitation of the question: "What will we do with it?" There can be little question of money, for with the value of three-fourths of the land (which can be used for such a purpose), a good start could be made, and once started there is no doubt that additional contributions would pour in to keep such a laudable enterprise in good shape. But agitation is necessary. Let us know exactly what we want and then go to work to secure it. The whole project should be in shape by the time the next session is called to order in Atlanta.

The 1804 Dollar and a Half

Philadelphia Press.

"There is something curious about the American silver dollar and half dollar of 1804," said a numismatist. "There were about 20,000 of the dollars coined, but not one of them ever got into circulation. Two of them are in well known coin collections to-day, however, and they are the most valuable of all American coins. Why the dollar of 1804 was never seen in circulation after leaving the mint is one of the unsolved government mysteries. It is asserted on good authority that the two 1804 dollars now in existence, while having been made from the original die, were in reality not coined for some years after that year when they were surreptitiously struck, and it is supposed, issued to a person in high authority, from whom they subsequently passed into the collections referred to. The half dollar of 1804 is surrounded by a mystery equally profound. There were over 150,000 of these coined, but not one was ever known to be in circulation.

"Quite recently some enterprising coin collectors were found in that year, and specimens of these are in every collection and numismatist's shop."

DISTRICT COURT

In the district court yesterday the motion in the case of Nevinson vs the City of Colorado Springs argued on Tuesday was overruled

Testimony in the condemnation suit of the C K & N vs C H White was then begun and the suit occupied the greater portion of the day The witnesses in the case were largely confined to well known real estate men who testified as to the value of the property. Their estimates varied all the way from a few hundred dollars to $7,500 Judge Hardtop conducted the case for the railroad and Judges Williams and Colburn for Mr White The case went to the jury at 4 o'clock and at 5 o'clock it came in for further instructions The judge instructed the jury [illegible] and court was then adjourned [illegible] this morning

Judge Dickson is trying to get through the business this week as he is anxious to get away for his vacation If the Manitou Colorado Springs water case comes up this term it is probable that Judge Stewart or Judge Allen of Denver will be called here to hear them

"I wish I owned a yacht for your sake I would take you sailing every night."

"That would be just lovely!"

"What kind of a yacht would you prefer, a steam yacht or a sailing one?"

"I think," she murmured, as she gazed [illegible] "I think I would like a [illegible]"

She got it.

Not in the Way

On a recent Sunday, in one of churches stood a couple [illegible] from the bottom of their souls, out of hymn-book Being religiously [illegible] and not having a hymn-book [illegible] who sat immediately behind [illegible] attempted to read the [illegible] doing so at the end of the [illegible] the gentleman whispering, "Oh, [illegible] The next verse [illegible] and the [illegible] away as devotionally as if they [illegible] thinking about nothing but the hymn when the [illegible] was sung, the [illegible] [illegible]

UNCLE SAM'S STATE HOUSE.

WHEN CONGRESS RECOVYENES THE CAPITOL WILL BE CHANGED

That Is the Dingy West Front of that Pile Will Be So Changed in Appearance as to Suggest That the Great Building Has Been Really Turned About

Special Correspondence

WASHINGTON, June [illegible] and its [illegible] but answer [illegible] to the city in October they will find [illegible] turned round The green [illegible] has been made to face the east Office [illegible] not lifted bodily on wheels or [illegible] and its face turned toward the [illegible] which it looks away That would [illegible] a feat for the most skillful of [illegible] even if backed by all the [illegible] in the country But an improvement [illegible] and will be completed when a few months work makes the west front of the Capitol the most beautiful and impressive [illegible] It is an improvement which transforms the form and almost the spirit of the pile that was the rear of the building into a palace rivaling in grandeur the [illegible] of the Tuileries or Versailles It would be full if even Solomon's palace presented a more noble front

Such a transformation is due to the fact that in all probability the last president of the United States has taken the oath of office on the eastern portico If precedent [illegible] constitutional Billingsgate shall prove stronger than precedent future presidents will be inaugurated on the great new terrace which overlooks the city of Washington—will take the oath of office with his face toward the broad expanse of territory between the Potomac and the Golden Gate When [illegible] and the people see the magic effect wrought by architect and builder, with their hands of grizzly toil and their materials of glittering [illegible] they will be likely to take gentle hold of the [illegible] of liberty herself and turn her face from the east to the west

Why the Capitol was ever built with its front to the east is one of the mysteries that will probably remain unexplained It has been said the founders of the city expected to see the town grow up on Capitol Hill, which lies east of the great structure, and that they naturally faced the building in that direction But this theory does not [illegible] of the fact that the plan of the city itself, made by the same founders and projectors, called for great improvement and population to the west of the capitol house

At one end of the long, straight, [illegible] avenue of the federal city [illegible] the executive [illegible] It is adorned by public buildings, bordering almost parallel with the avenue is a broad [illegible] park In the west of this park the Washington monument rises its shining head; near by are the agricultural buildings, the bureau of engraving and printing, the Smithsonian institute, the National [illegible] On either side of this avenue and park are various public structures, and the city itself, its residences as well as its business districts Perched on a hill to the east of all this, with its [illegible] overlooking everything with its [illegible] and stretching from [illegible]

THE CAPITOL AS IRVING SAW IT.

[illegible] house, seen in the Capitol but with its front toward this peculiar region, with the gold-dome back turned toward the [illegible] and all else that is in the city worth looking at!

Now, happily, all this is changed. If they were to take away the dome of the Capitol's right to title of grandest building in the world, that dome has been removed by the building of the new front It is now a building without a rear. The new eastern facade, with its huge columns, [illegible] and pediments and broad long flights of steps, the picture which probably every citizen of the United States has seen in life, photograph or print—will remain But in future the west front will probably make the favorite picture.

The Capitol is built on the brow of a hill whose surface slopes regularly to the west. Building at the front [illegible] a terrace thirty feet wide has been laid along the sides of the great pile, and along its western side to and the east. At the eastern corners this terrace is but eight or ten feet high, but as the ground falls away the face of the terrace becomes higher, and higher still in the middle of the west front. At the great central pediment and the doors of the central library, it is forty four feet above the surface of the ground

Between the house and senate wings the terrace is [illegible] still it is nearly a hundred feet wide. Its floor here presents an expanse so [illegible] that 20,000 people could easily stand upon it. A regiment of soldiers could maneuver on this concrete floor And if a president were to take the oath of office on the little balcony jutting under the central pediment, at the base of the columns and directly in front of the dome, half a million human beings could stand on the terrace, or the great slope below, to hear the words and see the perfect profile of the face No [illegible] figure is more [illegible] of statesmanship

The crown of beauty in this [illegible] is the pair of marble stairways approaches. One looks straight down Pennsylvania avenue

due to the [illegible] and White House the other gives a view into Maryland and over the Potomac and to Arlington Heights A [illegible] half way between the two rises over it the bronze statue of Martin [illegible] Lafayette, the wide park between [illegible] Washington [illegible] From this point [illegible]

Dr. O. K. Chamberlin,

Principal of the Kansas City Electrical Sanitarium, 314 Penna. Ave., offers his professional services for a limited time only, to the citizens of Colorado Springs, and invites their inquiry of health to call at his office, No 8, second floor Park Row and learn what he proposes to do and how he proposes to do it. Thirty years experience 5 in New York City, and the introduction of and application of the Electro Vital Forces has enabled him to produce results as unexpected to the healing art. His treatment is based on science and as reliable as the results are as telegraphy. A current of invisible force, above and beyond the matter and locomotion of the blood, thus obtaining a vigorous work. Through the discovery of polarization Dr Chamberlin has cured and further produces almost fabulous results that have baffled the skill of medication and medical dialogues. The result is alike safe, speedy and permanent in acute chronic and nervous diseases and incurable cases. Consultation free. [illegible]
